

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR PRINTING AN IMAGE ON A CLIENT DEVICE

Abstract

Java applets and data are downloaded into a client from a WEB data server to display a chart, datasheet, and the like in the WEB browser. Printing of the chart, datasheet, and the like is performed by transmitting displayed printing information to the WEB application server, preparing a file for printing based on the printing information received in the WEB application server, and transmitting the prepared file for printing to the client.